Time Education Graduates at Parliament House

July 26, 2017 was Times Education's inaugural graduation at Parliament House. It was a fantastic celebration of achievement for our students. Times Education Colleges participating in the ceremony were ; Wells International College, Business Institute of Australia and Warwick Institute of Australia. With more than 40 distinguished graduates receiving their qualifications, it was a wonderful ceremony including guest speakers; Mr William Galvin OAM (Chief Executive of Tourism Training Australia and President of the Tourism and Catering Institute of Australia) and NSW Parliamentary Minister for Planning, Housing and Special Minister of State, the Honourable Anthony Roberts. Each guest recognised and praised the students for their achievements. Well done to all the students and staff who made this event such a success! We are confident that our students will continue to strive for success and make us proud

Industry Advisory Board

Times Education recognises the importance of programs and courses that are relevant to today's industry and employability skills. As such, we are pleased to announce our Industry Advisory Board. The Industry Advisory Board will be made up of industry leaders from each of our areas of study and they will meet 4 times per year to review curricula and course content to ensure and review relevancy to current trends and needs of the marketplace.

If you know any professionals who may be interested in sitting on this board, please have them contact peter@timesedu.com.au. We are looking for dynamic industry leaders in the fields of Business & Accounting, Information Technology and Leadership & Management.
